

Edward C. Huycke is a graduate of the University of Kansas College of Liberal Arts and the School of Medicine. He served in the United States Army Medical Corps for more than 28 years, training in internal medicine and cardiology there. In addition to US Army Medical Corps clinical assignments, Dr. Huycke served in command and staff positions which included assignment as Commander of the 18th Medical Command with US Forces, Korea and as Surgeon for the European Command. Upon retirement from the US Army in 2006, Dr. Huycke joined the Veterans Health Administration, serving as the Chief Officer for the newly established DoD Coordination Office. In 2009, Dr. Huycke moved to the Office of the Medical Inspector as a senior medical inspector. In 2010, he assumed his current role as Deputy Medical Inspector for National Assessment in the Office of the Medical Inspector.